

Clinical and Theoretical Seminars: Lectures and Clinical Discussion Groups 2016 - 2017

The British Psychoanalytic Association (BPA) is a Component Society of the International Psychoanalytical Association (IPA)

BPA Clinical and Theoretical Seminars: Lectures and Clinical Discussion Groups (CDGs) 2016-2017

This flexible course enables participants who may be interested in training as a Psychoanalyst, or in discovering the workings of the mind through psychoanalysis, to begin to think or develop thinking in a psychoanalytic way.

The course comprises 17 Theoretical Lectures/Seminars (Wednesday evenings) and 15 Clinical Discussion Groups (Monday evenings) which take place over the academic year between 8:30-10:00pm at 37 Mapesbury Road, London, NW2 4HJ

- The Lectures/Seminars provide an opportunity for participants to hear and discuss theoretical lectures covering a broad range of themes in psychoanalysis given by Training and Senior Psychoanalysts
- The CDGs provide a space for people to present their work and think together about various professional relationships, whether clinical work or work in any type of workplace
The CDGs also provide a forum to give information and answer questions about training if required
